ENJOYABLE TIME EXPECTED AT THE BIG SOCIAL EVENT

Large Committee In Charge Has Worked Hard For A Big Success; Many Notable Guests To Be There

The older Young People of Annandale-on-Hudson will sponsor their annual Spring Dance on Friday evening, May 8, 1937, in the gymnasium. The dance will be formal and will last from 9:00 P. M. to 2:00 A. M.

The committees in charge have been chosen and they are working zealously in order to have a successful dance. The committee for decorations is composed of Ira Brewster Terry and Hal Nichols, the committee for chaperones, Ted H. Smyth and Cliff Burgess, and the committee in charge of selecting the orchestra is Seymour A. Thomas, Jr., Russ J. Scott, and Ed S. Grandin, III.

The gymnast promises to be attractively decorated with silver drapes and black trimming, with the motif carefully planned on the orchestra platform, where there will be a silver back drop behind a black piano. Paul Sabin and his orchestra, well-known music makers in New York City and the metropolitan area, will supply syn-copated, swing, and smooth music.

Among the young people planning to attend are Mr. Wesley P. Dochterman and Miss Hazel Witty, Mr. Robert Ficker and guest, Mr. Seymour A. Thomas, Jr., and guest, Mr. Alfred L. Chute and guest, Mr. John C. Honey and Miss Elizabeth Love, Mr. William H. Jorjy and guest, Mr. Stanley M. Merrill and guest, Mr. Russell J. Scott and guest, Mr. Theodore H. R. CARPENTER ATTACKED BY SAVAGES IN JUNGLE

Dr. Clarence Ray Carpenter, teacher of Psychology from Annandale, and his colleagues from Harvard and Johns Hopkins Universities, all members of the Coolidge Expedition for the study of greater primates in Asia and Malaya, were forced to flee from a vast jungle conflagration which was set by savage natives in Siam, according to letters received from Dr. Carpenter and Johns Hopkins University.

The fire, raging through the jungle because of a high wind, was set by the natives immediately after the expedition had established its first camp and it quickly spread beyond control. The members of the expedition were forced to carry all their equipment to a nearby river and put it under water. It was hours before they were able to move from their hiding place.

All Pleasantly Surprised By Return Of Smiley

After having been gone for a long time the boys up at the school were overjoyed Sunday to find an old friend waiting for them when they came out of church. The large colie came back to see his friends and to live up to his name greeted them with a wide smile spread over his face. He makes himself right at home with the boys visiting them in their classrooms and running eagerly up to any two or three boys that gather to talk on the grass. Smiley is back.

ANNANDALE PLAYS HOST TO GERMAN TEACHERS

For the first time in the records of Annandale history an organization of nation-wide importance has held its meeting in our fair boundaries. The Mid-Hudson Chapter of the American Association of Teachers of German met in the Bard School last Saturday and a good time was had by all. It was their semi-annual meeting.

WE ARE THE COMMUNITY'S VOICE

ANNANDALE NEEDS . . .

—10:30 CURFEW FOR MAY DANCE.

—BETTER ROADS.

—A TOWN HALL.

—THE SUPPORT OF ITS PEOPLE.

THE RETURN OF SPRING . . .

SPRING is here again to gladden the gardener's heart. Already in his mind he sees the glorious beauty of a splendid flower garden with cosmos, zinnias, asters and petunias.

The gardener already sees this before him as he scans his seed catalogues and orders the black and white and yellow granules, oblong, round, flattened out, or shrunken in almost dead dryness.

Yes, it is the time of spring indeed, when man's thoughts once more turn to things green and fresh and growing.

FOR 10 O'CLOCK . . .

WE feel it our duty to make public that deeply felt sentiment of so many of our citizens of our community that our young people stay out too late after the annual May dance.

All over our country we see our children being led into the miasm of evil by late hours. Do we want our boys and girls to fall into this same pit?

Our community, sailing over the tempestuous seas of life, must heed the light beacons erected by our grandfathers to keep us on the right and straight course.

We ask the School Board to set the hour of the curfew for our children at 10 o'clock. Thus we will make and end to the midnight revelries and morning sorrows.

And mothers and fathers, let your voices be heard with ours demanding a ten o'clock curfew. Let us all unite in one mighty effort to keep our community as fair as our grandfathers left it.

ANNANDALE, AN INDUSTRIAL CENTER . . .

OPPORTUNITY has indeed knocked on Annandale's door. Amalgamated Spaghetti, Macaroni and Shoeing Company, Incorporated, the result of a merger of the principle flour goods and shoe-lace factories in this country, has finally decided to establish its main plant in Annandale.

Some of the reasons given by company officials for their choice are: Annandale's central position in relation to railroad and river traffic, the industrious nature of Annandale's citizens, its healthy climate and suitable weather for the manufacture of spaghetti and macaroni.

But though the A. S. M. and S. Co. will be benefited by its settlement in our community, we too will gain thereby. The factory will give work to thousands of our citizens.

And in the future, what a picture greets us! Immense smoke-stacks towering from the side of the Annandale River, and acres of gleaming buildings humming with the activity of its countless workers.

Ah, we are happy indeed to welcome to our midst, the A. S. M. and S. Company, Inc.

Reader's Corner

By JOHN SMITH

If you want to read some new literature which has only just come out, go to the Library and there you'll find an Italian novel, "Bread and Wine."

You can't imagine what life is like in the Italian villages. The women are always about to have babies. Could you picture one of Annandale's mothers sitting down on the steps of Erwin Smith's restaurant to suckle her baby!

Pietro Spina is the hero of the book, but to find out whether he marries the heroine or not, you'll have to read the story. I wasn't sure which girl was the one he loved better.

Another brand new book which you can read if you go to the Library is an amazing story which exposes the underworld in England. It is called "Angels in Undress" and was written by a jail-bird who has decided to stop robbing people's houses and now writes about how he was brought up and why he was led astray in the first place.

The last book I shall discuss today is the "Ulysses" book which no one, I think, can possibly understand. How a Jewish advertising man in Ireland spends his day is of no interest to any of our fair village, and the simply awful details of personal life they are, should not be read.

By next week I shall have read "Gone With the Wind" all the way through and I will give you a report on it. I've been reading it since it came into the library last year and it's been swell reading. I met the girl who wrote it, Rheta and Scarlett's little girl has just been killed. It's awfully sad.

Superintendent of Schools Donald G. Tewksbury announced to a general convocation of enthusiastic students yesterday, that school would close on June 5th this year.

SCHOOL CLOSURES JUNE 5; BOYS SHOW ENTHUSIASM

Many of the students yelled, "Yippee, yippee!" until the Supt. held up a restraining hand with a paternal air. "Boys," he said, "I'm proud of you all. I think this past year has been a distinctive one, and undoubtedly has shown sound and most excellent results."

These remarks may be compared with last year's "closing-of-the-school" speech, at which time Supt. Tewksbury exclaimed to another filled convocation, "Boys, my congratulations to you all! The past year has shown the progress beyond my wildest dreams even. This has been the most distinctive year yet."

A LAMENT

Spring, and the whole wide world enticing, "Come and play!" "The hungry voices are calling "What do we eat today?"

Hyacinths bloom in the garden, blue against the wall— Menus made in the kitchen just don't make sense at all.

The mountains flaut their glory along the far flung views Strawberry shortcake season, with cream from the cow that moos,

The birds are gaily tilting their springtime songs so sweet But the dining hall reechoes with the marching of many feet

Oh, mother earth is waking,—you can hear her pulses beat But still the voices clamor,—"Oh, what do we have to eat?"

GIVE THE CITY KIDS A TASTE OF THE COUNTRY

Now is the season when the sun shines brighter and the grass is greener. Now is the season of happier childhood. We are indeed fortunate that we already live in the country where the advantages of fresh air and sunshine give added health to our children.

City children are given a few weeks in the country by many charity groups. Some of these children come to camps in the vicinity. THE ARGUS would like to suggest that some of the people with fair sized farms, take a child or two for a few weeks and give him the advantages of the Annandale climate.

We believe we should pass some of our good fortune on to others less fortunate—this is one way of doing it.

For Goodness Sake

By ANNE MORON

Now that the dreary winter season is behind us, and the month of May is here in all its glory, our somewhat jaded appetites are as lazy as the weather.

This is the season when color is essential and the food artist uses it lavishly in his effort to tempt the wayward appetite. Tender dandelion greens with their wholesome content of minerals are garnished with the rich yellow of egg yolk, suggestive of the gold of the dandelion flower.

PALETTE and BRUSH

It is quite an experience to be able to talk about an exhibition of pictures such as these now on display in the City Gallery.

The pictures are not hand-painted but they are good reproductions of the original paintings made by the artists.

This exhibition is mostly of work of American artists. Three other painters, J.M.W. Turner, Whistler, and Matisse, have pictures too.

The American paintings show the work of artists from the seventeenth century up to the men working today.

In a little later period there is a picture of "John Biglow in a Single Scull" by Thomas Eakins.

CENTRAL TOWER TO BE BASED ON INVERTED P'R'M'D

In the architect's drawing above is the general idea of the new tower proposed for John Bard School.

The tower itself is of glass with steel girders running through the middle to support the offices on top.

At first we were a little skeptical about such a strange looking building to go with the buildings on the hill but it was explained to us that architecture is "functional" nowadays.

The local Board of Education has invited Superintendent of Schools Tewksbury to toss the first ball onto the new lot but whether or not the Supt's arm will be in condition for the heave is still a matter of guesswork.

PLEASURE CR'FTS TO BE LAUNCHED IN NEAR FUTURE

The local fleet is now being gotten ready for the summer boating season on the Hudson River, with no let-up on the use of paints and varnishes, and the skippers are looking forward to many a happy voyage.

Two boats have yet to be added to the impressive fleet. Both are kayaks of the genuine Eskimo variety, one being owned by Mr. Henry J. Zellweger of Ridgewood and Annandale and the other, by the local school.

The Editor of the ARGUS draws the reader's attention to the misspelling appearing in the second paragraph.

ANNANDALE ACES LOSE TO ALBANY, WESLEYAN TEAMS

Coach "Stew" Williams' college aces opened their court season by dropping two thrilling matches to Albany State, 7-2, and Wesleyan, 9-0, last week.

Two feature single combats saw Smyth lose to the well-baked Gak of Albany, ranking star for the Staters, 6-2, 6-2. The Red and White outplayed their opponents in many ways and should win easily in the return contest on the Albany clay later this month.

Against Wesleyan, one of the strongest teams in the east, the local "lads" showed up surprisingly well.

CORONATION IN ENGLAND ATTRACTS MANY PEOPLE

Perhaps the most popular and widely advertised attraction at the present time is the crowning May 12, of Great Britain's King George VI. His Majesty's political and medical advisors have done much to keep him fit so that he will be in top form May 12. The King and Queen have rehearsed many long hours during the past week in preparation for the crowning.

Whatever the ferits of the attraction, some 500,000 people will be the witnesses of a spectacle costing England £454,000. Visitors are expected to spend £6,000,000, including £2,000,000 on drinking the King's health on the great day.

Seating space along the Coronation route has almost reached its maximum. A rather novel idea is being carried out along the route. Crowns are being made to be fixed on lamp-posts, as well as other structures that can be crowned, along the line of march.

RADIO COLUMN BY WXYZ

Musical Ability Like Kay Thompson's Rare Among Popular Singers.

That versatile First Lady of Rhythm, Kay Thompson, wrote a whole new song for herself and the Rhythm Singers for the Chesterfield Program heard on Friday evening, April 30th over the Columbia Network. The song is called "Celebrating Time," an appropriate title since that program marked a full year of broadcasting for Miss Thompson under Chesterfield sponsorship. Since New Year's Day of this year Kay Thompson and her Rhythm Singers have been featured with Hal Kemp's Dance Band; for 8 months prior to that time they had been a part of the Andre Kostelanetz Chesterfield shows.

Although it may not be a record, Miss Thompson is proud of the fact that she has not missed a single Chesterfield performance out of a total of nearly 100 broadcasts during the past twelve months. From July 1st through September, 1936, the blonde singer and her popular chorus were on the air two nights each week. And beginning with October, 1936, up to the present time they have given two complete shows every Friday evening, one at 8:30 for the East and another at 11:30 for the West.

Kay Thompson has the reputation of being a hard worker . . . one of the hardest workers in radio today. She arranges a large part of her musical material and also writes original lyrics for many of the novelty numbers featured with her Rhythm Singers, who are Kay Thompson-trained as well. Lately she has made a number of Victor recordings to meet the widespread public demand for permanent records of her interpretations of popular songs. Two movie offers have also come out of the West in recent weeks, but Miss Thompson is convinced that radio is her field and for the present, at least, has no desire to "go Hollywood." Which should be good news for all of Chesterfield's radio friends.

Here And Here Abouts

George Carnwright, Red Hook taxi-driver, reports that he is busier than ever before, and the facts seem to bear him out. Last week Billy McMichael, local wit, stopped George (Tel. Red Hook 165, Packard cars used) on his way to the Barrytown station. "Where do you think you're going, George," he asked, "to a fire?" George's answer was a wow: "Yes, yes." George is very popular.

Mr. Fuller of the Bard School faculty is pleased because his fiancée, Miss Dorothy Edsel is coming on from Pittsburgh for the school's senior prom.

Dr. Summers, also on the faculty at Bard, has announced his engagement to Miss Brunhilde Reich of the Biology Department at Vassar College.

Ask Winnie Stearns who she is.

The Duke of Windsor, who, as we all know, was once king of England, will take up residence shortly at the Rogers' Estate near Hyde Park. He plans to conduct a course in the High School next year on International Relations.

A great many students and teachers at Bard school are planning to go abroad this summer. Among them are Mr. Bassage, who will visit England; and Mr. Corti who is sailing for Italy early in June.

Mr. Voorhees will spend the summer in Greece, and Dr. and Mrs. Edwards will go to Germany. Dr. Edwards will be in Germany for two weeks. He has not been there since Hitler's advent to power, and it is expected that this visit will give him quite an insight into the sociological aspects of Nazism.

Dr. Harry will remain on campus as usual.

Howard Jennings of Red Hook reports that rumours about him are spreading through the neighborhood with alarming rapidity. He invites the person or persons responsible to meet him at the hotel next Sunday afternoon to discuss the matter quietly with him.

REMARK: It is that the guest, the chairman of the Lions is bringing has been his wife since December. Congratulations, J.T.C.
