The Gala Inaugural Celebration
and Conference

The Gala Inaugural Celebration will begin at 12:30 pm, Saturday, with luncheon and address at Blithewood. This day of public policy discussion and festivities will mark the transformation of Jerome Levy's quest, begun 80 years ago, into a permanent pursuit of better economic policy.

The specially chartered Jerome Levy Inaugural Celebration Express will leave Grand Central Terminal in New York City at 9:30 am. Breakfast will be served on the train. Cocktails, a light supper and entertainment will accompany you back to New York.

The Celebration will be preceded by a 2 day conference entitled Profits and Instability, with leading scholars including Robert Eisner, Northwestern University; Charles Kindleberger, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Hyman Minsky, Washington University, St. Louis; and Martin Weitzman, Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

You are welcome to attend the entire conference as our guest, Thursday through Saturday, at The Jerome Levy Economics Institute.
