Safety Comm. Hits Freshman Violators

This year the Safety Committee, in addition to enforcing the usual traffic regulations on campus and on the Annandale road, has had to in the general area of the campus, the college has no way of knowing whether the driver's license and registration of the college-church relationship into the scholarship fund appeal is “less than satisfactory." A meeting with the Executive Committee is to be scheduled at the earliest possible date.

In September a lecture hall will be ready to house the new courses of the Six-Point Program to be initiated then. Work began on the construction of the lecture hall last week under the direction of Mr. Kline. The building would have the following features:

1. Seating capacity for 200 in theater chairs, suitable for notetaking.
2. One-step raised platform for speaker, with built-in science demonstration table (electric, gas and water outlets and sink.)
3. Blackboard and movie screen behind lecturer.
4. Men's and women's lavatories and costumers, suitable for refreshments.
5. Classrooms and laboratory for science. The backgrounds in Western Civilization course will consist of approximately 170 students.

The writing course is designed “both to interest the student in the workings of language and to improve his own ability to use it.” It will be given in two forms: one, for literature majors, will concentrate on a broad background on the methods of writing and the second, for Mr. Blanche in the spring semester. The junior Common Course will be offered to freshmen in the fall and spring semesters to each class.

The Six-Point Program will not be offered to sophomores until 1965-66. The literature and science courses will probably be based on present elective courses, such as Divisional Seminar in Literature and Life Science.

The future is not yet determined what form the Natural Science course will take. The committee has considered three alternatives: a two-semester course in physiological science; a year course consisting of one semester of Common Course to Bard students in their freshman year, so that the two courses will be offered in the latter half of their senior year. EDITORIAL
Kaleidoscope

Although reorganization of Kaleidoscope, the club of the social studies division, may remove the reins of control from the hands of one small interest group, it would not guarantee against the possibility of another such group attempting to gain control.

PROJECT, in its April 30 letter to all members of the community, cited several valid complaints concerning the operations of the so-called club of the social studies division. In the letter, PROJECT called for an open, procedural meeting of Kaleidoscope. It also asked that all interested persons sign a petition on the Hegeman bulletin board.

We heartily endorse the proposals made by PROJECT as a way of improving the interest of the social studies organization, the social studies division and the community. All persons who attend the open Kaleidoscope meeting, if it occurs, should bear this in mind.

Until now, the speakers have been selected without consultation with the members of the division. What is now needed is not another group at the helm who will also select speakers without conferring with members of the division.

If every person who attends the open meeting will bear this in mind and attend with positive suggestions for improving the organization, we believe Kaleidoscope will, in the near future, fully represent the wishes and needs of the entire social studies division.

Flewscopy Hall

The Observer is pleased with the decision of the Administration to change the name of the New Dormitory as the New Dormitory. We had earlier voiced our approval of this suggestion, which Henry Edinburg first made a year ago; the new name is a large improvement over the obviously tentative "New D.onn.""New D.onn.

"Project Friday"

The office of the Registrar has announced that all Senior Projects will be due no later than May thirtieth. The official list of Senior Project Reviews for the Division of Social Studies carries a heading after the date: June 1. This day has been called by that division: Project Friday.

On Project Friday, the great majority of Social Studies Senior Projects are to be reviewed. This should make little or no difference to the seniors whose Projects are to be reviewed that day, except that we wonder how many of the members of the Review Boards are to be expected to read these Projects in one evening. We wonder how these members of the faculty who have more than one Review Board to attend on this day can be expected to do a fair job in the reading and criticism.

How about the person whose Project Review Board meets at 3:45 P.M.? Can those members of the faculty who have been involved in two other Review Boards that same day be able to perform their very necessary function as we have every right to expect? We doubt it!

What about the Senior who feels that his Project must be studied for more than a few hours? Is it necessary for him to be required to hand in his Project a week before everybody else? Does this seem fair to those Seniors who are interested in their Projects and consider them a part of their lives?

We suggest that the Division of Social Studies revise their Review Board meeting dates so as to give the Seniors and the members of the faculty a fair chance to work on and study the Senior Projects.

New York State Law

"It is hereby declared to be the policy of the state that the American ideal of equality of opportunity requires that students, otherwise qualified, admitted to educational institutions without regard to race, color, religion, creed or national origin."

Dr. Reamer Kline announced to Community Council that he feels there should be a greater percentage of Episcopalian students at Bard. He said that he would be "uneasy if there was a clearly recognizable majority" of any religion.
College Science Award Goes to Columbia Man

Dr. Robert F. Loeb, Professor of Medicine, College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, has been selected as this year's recipient of the John and Samuel Bard Award in Medicine and Science. The presentation, in the form of a medal, will be made at ceremonies to take place at 7:45 P.M. Wednesday in Bard Hall. A resolution in Dr. Loeb's honor will follow at the home of President Reemter Kissin.

Established in memory of Dr. Vasil Obresthove, science teacher at Bard, the John and Samuel Bard Award is named after father and son, internationally distinguished in their day in both science and medicine.

The first award of the medal was given last June at commencement to Dr. Detlev Bronk, President of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research.

Dr. Loeb, this year's award winner, has played a part in the medical affairs of this country equalled in few in its scope of influence. One of the original members of the President's Science Advisory Board and consultant to the Atomic Energy Commission, he is a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, past president of the Association of American Physicians, a trustee of the Rockefeller Institute and the Foundation.

Safety Comm. (Continued from Page 1) to the Dean's office, until such time as the cars can be taken home.

Safety Committee's decisions are in the form of recommendations to the Dean for actions on more important cases, and imposition of fines for minor traffic violations. The Committee makes its own policy decisions within the limits of college regulations. This semester the Committee consists of Dave Lieberman, chairman, Jack Blum, Marc Lipsius, and Alex Friedman, all re-elected from last semesters' committee, and Charles Hollander, Community Council representative.

Bard Softball Season Begins Wed. at Home

The Bard softball team is ready to begin its first full season of inter-collegiate play. The coach Mr. Charles Patrick has scheduled five games for the month of May, including for the first time non-home games.

Pitcher Mark Brennan, Ralph Levine, Bob Marrow, and Mike Goff return to positions in the infield. Newcomers are Chris Willits and Geoffrey Rohn. Richard Groener returns as relief pitcher, with Richard Toft and Mark Kennedy substituting behind the plate.

In the outfield Bobby Epstein and Bob Knight are supplemented by Lane Sarrafin, Ted Berry, Sandy Sargeant, Mike DiWilt, and Jim Bolef. The schedule is as follows:

Wed. May 9 Marist College Home 4:00 P.M.
Sat. May 12 Albany Business College Away 11:00 A.M.
Sat. May 12 Albany Pharmacy Away 2:00 P.M.
Wed. May 16 Marist College Away 4:00 P.M.
Wed. May 23 Albany Business College Home 4:00 P.M.

Motor Club's First Meet Draws 20

Motor Club held an organizational meeting last Wednesday night. At the meeting, the 20 persons attending approved the N.A.T. EMC and decided the basis for membership.

The club will include drivers of all types of powered vehicles, not just sports cars. Those present also decided to plan a greater emphasis on enthusiasm as a criterion for membership than on ownership.

Since the club structure still lacked formal organization, those present elected a constitution committee to present a framework of goals, organization, and policies for a referendum by members this Wednesday at 7 P.M. in Albee social.
