Cambridge Dean Sunday Preacher

Delivers Interpretation of St. Francis of Assisi.

The preacher in the chapel on Sunday morning, February 23rd, was the Rev. Henry Bradford Washburn, Dean of the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Mass., and Professor of ecclesiastical history in the same. During the war Dr. Washburn was secretary and director of all the work done by the Episcopal Church in camps and cantonments.

Dean Washburn preached on St. Francis, because, as he said, "St. Francis means more to me than any other character in Christian history, with the exception of Christ. I am firmly convinced as time goes on that the scientist who is a thorough scientist and recognizes that there is nothing in creation which he ought not to examine, will take the religious experience of every genius seriously." What there is in man has not yet been plumbed. St. Francis and men of his type are the only ones who can tell us what human nature is. St. Francis tells us all we need to know about God and Christ and the possibilities of our nature. He shows us what our illimitable powers are, provided we are not selfish and try hard to make real to ourselves what the presence of God is. Doesn't his life show us that we should not gage human nature by the average? Are we not impelled to gage human nature by what we call the abnormal, the unusual? Maybe St. Francis is normal and the great majority of human beings are subnormal.

St. Francis was canonized by his own contemporaries. He brought God down among mankind in a very real way. In Dante's poem he was placed in the highest circle of heaven. To have created the impression such as he did, shows him to be a singularly normal person. Wherever a good time was going on, Francis was the ringleader. Wherever he was there was a good time. He was a man of remarkable generosity, and many stories are related of his ready disposal of his possessions to those less fortunate than himself. The qualities of saintship were with him from his earliest days. The life of Saint Francis cannot be understood. It is a mystery to us, but is a challenge also of what heights human nature can rise to.

St. Francis penetrated beneath the superficialities of his nature, and had come to share in the creation of life. The real human existence is only lived when man and God and Christ are one. His was a life of utter abandonment to Christ and wanting to help human nature. After all those twenty or so years of such a life, what more natural than that he should bear the marks of our Lord Christ?

Sophs Optimistic; Still Searching

The obituary notice in the last issue of the Lyre Tree, announcing the premature death and burial of Al. G. E. Bra '33, has stimulated some prominent archeologists and thirsty methodologists, to try and excavate the precious bottle interred in the grave with "Al." If the expedition is successful, and it is not unlikely it will be, the mourners at the burial on February 5th, will weep anew. For it means that they will have to toil along the rest of the

Bowling Lifts Head to Rank Of Sports

Coach Banks and Doctor Bell Offer Appropriate Trophies.

For the first time in the history of St. Stephen's, bowling is occupying a relatively prominent position in its sports program. On the evening of February 3rd, the first game of the St. Stephen's bowling tournament was played in the Memorial Gymnasium. The rules of the tournament are as follows: A team shall consist of any five men from each group on campus; each team will meet the other once; at each meeting three games will be rolled; the team making the greatest total of pins will win the tournament, not the most games; each team member will be required to pay five cents for each game rolled; any protest must be made in writing and will be decided by a meeting of the team managers; each game must be rolled on or before the date scheduled; the team failing to have a team on hand will forfeit fifty pins.

Six teams, representing the Faculty, the Non-Soc's, the "Help", and the Sigma Alpha Epsilon, the Kappa Gamma Chi, the Eulexian fraternities, are entered in the tournament. As an incentive for keen competition, a number of awards have been offered. Warden Bell has donated an appropriate trophy for the winning team. W. Banks, athletic director and basketball coach, has offered a sweater for the individual having the highest average at the end of the tournament. The individual having high score shall be awarded a trophy donated by Walter MacDermot.

At the end of six games, the Kaps have high score with a total of 3,996. MacDermot, of the "Help's" team holds high individual score, having bowled 196. It might be said that there has been a noticeable improvement in the bowling talent of each of the contestants since the beginning of the tournament.

The totals for the six games are as follows:

Team	Total
K. G. X., Kingman, Mgr....	3,996
Help, MacDermot, Mgr.	3,783
S. A. E., Fried, Mgr.	3,672
Faculty, Dr. Davidson, Mgr.	3,585
Eulexian, Mulligan, Mgr.	3,335
Non-Soc's, Fraser, Mgr.	3,208

Fuscass to Lead Cage Men 1930-31

Former Textile High Boy Has Held Forward Position Three Years.

James Peter Fuscass, '31, was elected captain of the 1930-31 basketball aggregation at a meeting of the varsity squad Friday, February 28.

In view of the new athletic ruling that no senior can vote for the coming year's captain, Symons, Good, Glenn and Fuscass were the only members of the cage team to cast ballots.

Jimmie Fuscass is a Junior and a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon at St. Stephen's. He entered in 1928 from the Textile High School in New York City in which city his home is also located. The captain-elect began his career under Coach Banks with an enviable reputation to uphold and he did not disappoint

Hockey Team Stages Grand Comeback

On Friday, February 21, a sadder but wiser scarlet hockey team invaded Colgate with the taste of the Hamilton defeat still fresh in its mouth. When the big, husky bunch of Maroons came on the ice the chances didn't look any better but after the first period had been under way for five minutes the Saints got blood in their eye and went after an inferior team hammer and tongs. At eight minutes Capt. Lev Smith scored on a fine shot from the end zone line and the fray was on for fair. The ice became somewhat soft under the effect of the sun and the terrific amount of abuse that it was receiving from hurrying skates. Back and forth the tide of contest surged and shot after shot rang against the sticks of the two goalies. Gamble played a superb game for the Saints. He was not only effective in front of the cage but was out on both sides into the bargain stopping attempted passes from behind the net. Finally, late in the third period Colgate tied up the count and it was agreed to play two five minute overtime periods. After a brief rest the sweating and weary teams went at it again in a blinding snow storm. Time after time the puck was lost only to shoot out from the most unexpected place. With a minute and thirty seconds to go Hamilton jockeyed the puck up to mid-ice and made a pass that fell short due to the snow. The Colgate goalie reached out to brush it to one side but it did not come quite as far as he expected and his stick passed by it in full swing. In the split second that elapsed before he could recover White darted in and poked it into the cage. In the remaining time Colgate never got beyond their own end zone.

Summary:
St. Stephen's 1 0 0 1-2
Colgate 0 0 1 0-1
Saves at goal:
St. Stephen's 10 14 7 4-35
Colgate 10 7 9 2-28

Honor Society Elects New Members

Five Men Succeed in Meeting the Rigid Requirements.

At the meeting of the Dragon Club of St. Stephen's College on the evening of Sunday, February 9th, five men, having been found eligible in every respect, were chosen as new members. The men elected are Matthew Imrie, '30, S. A. E., Boston, Mass.; James Paul, '30, K. G. X., New York City; Guy Wallace Pickering, '32, S. A. E., Joplin, Mo.; J. W. Wilson, '32, K. G. X., Windsor, Vt., and W. Vassiliw, '31, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. The initiation of these new men will raise the club membership to eleven.

It should be explained for the benefit of the new students at St. Stephen's that the Dragon Club is the college honor society. A scholastic average of at least 85 per cent for three consecutive semesters is the rigid requirement for entrance. Besides this the prospective member must have all-round interests and have a character generally agreeable to the club members.

The next time of election will be in June, 1930.

WINTER FROLIC DECLARED TO BE GREAT SUCCESS

Frosh Prepare Novel Modes of Entertainment.

Ash Wednesday Opens Solemn Season of Lent

The season of Lent began on Ash Wednesday, March 5th. In addition to the early celebration there was a second Mass at 9:30, with a brief instruction by the Warden.

There will be no additional services in the Chapel during Lent. The present schedule offers ample opportunity for worship, devotion, and spiritual exercise. The season may be satisfactorily observed if the fullest possible use is made of this opportunity.

During Lent the church requires such acts of abstinence and devotion as are best suited to spiritual exercise and development. The individual program is left to the individual conscience.

The experience of past ages leads the Church to offer the following suggestions:

1. Begin the season with a careful self-examination, assisted by the Sacrament of Penance where it seems advisable. The clergy on the campus will be available for this Sacrament by appointment. Then resolve:
2. To eliminate from our lives at least one bad habit, or the most persistent besetting sin.
3. To renounce, as a matter of training and self-discipline, at least one customary pleasure.
4. To develop in our lives the good habit, or virtue, which is most conspicuously lacking.
5. To fulfill our duty of almsgiving by contributing liberally through the chapel offering.
6. To make our communions more frequently and regularly, after a most complete preparation.

The sincere cooperation of all is bound to mean a happy and profitable Lent.

Coach Reviews Hockey Season

As yet no letters have been awarded to the members of the hockey squad but the men who have competed in a portion of every game (aside from the goalies) are L. Smith, K. Smith, Miller, Riley, Nale, Pepper, Hamilton, White and Spahr. Three men, Gamble, Miller and L. Smith will be lost by graduation. Fortunately, however, White is an experienced defense man and can be moved into Smith's place and Spahr shows promise of being able to hold down Miller's right wing position in another season. In addition Adenaw, a freshman, played one game as goalie and may develop into a substitute for Gamble. This leaves no vacancies so that any new men coming in next fall will have to fight for a berth. It is just that sort of competition that builds up a strong team.

Manager Vassiliw is rounding up an attractive schedule that is even more ambitious than the one just finished. Connecticut, Mass. Aggies, Hamilton and Army are already assured.

The Freshman Frolic of the class of 1931 was held on Friday evening, February 28, at 9:00 in the Memorial Gymnasium (the one with the yellow stucco) according to the latest rumor circulating around campus.

The dance committee chose a ten piece colored orchestra from among the Clef Club orchestras, and assured those dragging that negro syncopation is the best since they were the originators of jazz. The dance continued as usual into the wee small hours of the morning, stopping only when the male half the couple had collapsed from exhaustion.

The programs were designed by Kollmar, '31, with covers drawn by him, and are printed by the same company that printed those for the Junior Prom, whoever they were. The decorations are of crepe paper, graduating in color from purple to gold, were very striking.

There was no intermission but refreshments were served to couples whenever desired, and the classroom in Albee basement was fitted up as a rest room for wearied members of the endurance contest.

This was a fitting close to the festivities in which the Frosh have indulged since they buried the Algebra much to the discomfort of the sophomores, (the ones with the mustaches, dearie.)

The dance committee was composed of Pepper, chairman; Jordan, treasurer; Adenaw, chairman for music committee; Hamilton, Kollmar, Mitton—decoration committee; and White, chairman of the program committee.

Unfortunately for the males there were no athletic events over the week end, only fraternity dances on Saturday, which means that they will be recuperating until the Senior Prom. The Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity held a tea dance on Saturday afternoon at its house to which all and sundry were invited, and the Eulexians and Kappa Gamma Chi retaliated with evening dances lasting until twelve at their respective houses.

Prayers were offered daily that the weather would be of the best.

To avoid embarrassments, if too many people claim to be officers of the Freshmen class, it has been requested by suitable authorities that the officers be listed. They are namely: G. Willing Pepper, president; John Mitton, vice-president; Marcus Mallet, secretary; and William E. Jordan, treasurer.

Migrations were started Friday morning when students were ousted from Albee and other disgruntled swains deported into the twilight of another day (off campus) to drown their sorrows away from the bursts of merriment of heartless youth. Also immigrants from Vassar and numerous other Women's Corrective Institutions began to arrive by auto, and also were met at the railroad station at Barrytown to prevent them from being lost in the Big City. The students are beginning to wonder if they ever knew each other, as women have a disastrous effect on activities and personalities. It is also well to have these proms because the school always is boosted before outsiders by the very ones who gnash teeth in private when shut in from outside criticism.

We are, and shall be, passing through the hardest time of the year at this college—the one hard stage of our life on the campus—mid-winter. To some of us, Annandale, unmasked of its bright autumn coloring and not yet ready for its spring cloak of green, seems a bit lonely, and out of the way of the cares and the thoughts of the rest of the world. Perhaps we have failed in a few of our examinations and have had various other troubles. Our misery is sure to find lots of company and soon we begin to feel that there must be something wrong with the college or its location, forgetting that our life here is exactly as we choose to make it. If we regard the classrooms, the gymnasium, and the chapel as places of mental, physical, and spiritual tortures, certainly the winter months are going to foster discontent and unhappiness.

This condition is by no means, a new one at St. Stephen's. In the early days the mid-winter "blues" were attributed to the absence of a gymnasium. We can no longer offer this as an excuse, but a gymnasium alone cannot alleviate this condition; a complete change of attitude on our part is necessary. Let us enter heartily into the activities of the campus and regard them as privileges and pleasures instead of painful duties and obligations. Let us live more the traditional care-free life of the undergraduate instead of serving a sentence of several months. After we leave St. Stephen's all of us will have to pass through periods when we shall feel a thousand times more lonely and deserted than snowed in at the college. Then we will realize that it is much easier to be a big part of a little world than a very little part of a big world. If St. Stephen's ever tests us, it is during this time of the year. The ability to be happy and enthusiastic and to make others the same when external things are somewhat gloomy and depressing is going to be of much greater value in later years than during our undergraduate days. It is a requisite quality for our future success. The place to begin its cultivation is St. Stephen's, the time is the present.

Army Defeats Saints in Wild Game

On Wednesday, February 19, the Saints' hockey team stacked up against the Army at Bear Mountain rink and took the short end of a 3-0 score. The tally sheet, however, is not nearly so eloquent as the record of saves at the goal. Blomquist had but fourteen shots to handle, three of which went into the cage, while the West Point goalie was kept busy attending to thirty-eight cracks at the net. In the first period St. Stephen's made nineteen shots at the Army goal and Blomquist loafed around and at last had one lone save to his credit. The Saints forced the playing practically all the time, but dame fortune saved all her smiles for the soldiers and all the breaks of the game went in their direction. Lindquist, the Army ace who has been scoring almost at will throughout the season, managed to get through the scarlet defense late in the third period and score once. The other two goals were made by Fisher.

Blomquist played a good game at the net. Each one of the goals were made at exceedingly close range where about all the goalie can do is to rush the attacker in the hope of making a stop. The Army goalie was very good (he had to be) but the rest of the team was in no wise superior to the St. Stephen's sextette and after the game the Army coach was heard to remark that he would want even money if the game were to be played over.

The game was exceptionally fast because the Saints never let it slow down. When the puck went in behind our cage it came right out again as fast as the man carrying it could skate and the line was off down the rink for another attack. Army made two or three attempts to take it easy late in the second period but immediately the scuffling got so hectic within their own end zone that they abandoned that scheme and played straight hockey

Hockey Team Loses to Hamilton

On the evening of February 12 the hockey team met Hamilton on the elegant indoor rink at Clinton and lost to a fast, clean team by a score of 8 to 2.

The score, however, does not really represent the relative ability of the two teams. Blomquist had a bad day and allowed five tallies in the first period and one after about thirty seconds of play in the second. At that juncture Gamble went in and finished the game and held the scoring down to two tallies. One thing that may have added to Blomquist's excited state of mind was the fact that two of the Hamilton goals were made from obviously off-sided plays. The next day the referee admitted as much but the night of the game they were called O. K. As a result Bloomy got such a big peeve that he couldn't do himself justice.

Hamilton had the better team and deserved to win but the score should have been about 5-2.

The Philippines

Once only a stopping-off point in the long trans-Pacific voyage, the Philippines are now to come into their rightful position as one of the most interesting and attractive island countries in the world. The formation of the Philippine Tourist Association—sponsored by Governor General Dwight F. Davis and having M. James King Steele, long associated with Japanese steamship interests, as its manager and executive secretary—is the first step toward educating the traveling public to the beauties and pleasures of the archipelago. Recognition of its own claims to being a definite goal of tourists instead of merely a junction has been postponed too long, but the program of this new organization gives assurance the America's tropic outpost is now prepared and eager to receive visitors, and to demonstrate to them the amazing variety and equally amazing fertility which lie within its confines.

—The Forum

In order to prevent his backfield men from running with knees close together, and thus becoming easy tackling marks, Coach Brown of Boston University has invented a new device made of stiff leather called a "hobble." Worn on the inner part of the knee, it makes the back thing twice before running in the forbidden manner. If he does forget, a chafed leg is the result.

The Daily Princetonian printed an article last week, written by F. L. Carlise, a New York banker and graduate of Cornell, in which he declared, "A university cannot produce in men the drive that business gives them; life is easy and soft for the collegians. It is necessary for them to get rid of lazy habits when they enter business.

as long as they could keep the puck. The defeat was nothing to be ashamed of and the St. Stephen's team commands a lot of respect around West Point, at least enough to warrant signing of for February 26th next year.

DECRIES BOOK SELLING HABIT

Illinois Dean Blames Lack of Money and Student's Indifference.

Do college students sell their text books? This is a timely question concerning an unfortunate custom which seizes many undergraduates in January and June. Thomas Arkle Clark, Dean of Men of the University of Illinois, gives two reasons for these seasonal outbreaks; first, the student's indifference or lack of interest in his work, and second, his need to get out of a financial difficulty. Dean Clark's further statements that "a college student is always broke" and "anything that will immediately add to his bank account seems to him justifiable" will not be challenged.

But immediate cash is not always forthcoming from the sale of textbooks, and the sums obtained are negligible in comparison with the value of the books. The rush to dispose of textbooks at less than real value is swelled by the thought that now examinations being over those old books will never be needed again. Perhaps they'll not be needed for classroom work; but how often graduates moan that they wish they had kept their textbooks to brush up on a language, to find a certain formula, to locate that line of poetry. The reasons for missing books hastily disposed of are many but the regret is recurrent that the books are gone with all the previous notes that added value to them at least in sentiment.

Again where will you ever get accepted authorities so economically? The truth is that once you have sold a textbook you will never replace it, you will even tramp to a library for the required information. Which is not quite as clever as keeping the books in the first place, and gradually acquiring a personal reference library that may save much time and money for you in the future.

It is a recognized fact that textbooks on technical or professional subjects constitute the basis of a professional library. In many cases these professional books are very expensive, and to resell them at the popular low rates would not augur well for a technical career. In general textbooks formats are becoming more attractive yearly, and do not detract in the least from the charm of well filled bookcases. Who would have a library composed only of novels? A choice as limited as that would indicate an uninteresting owner; even a calculus textbook on your book shelves would catch the eye and hint of a many sided character.

These are point in passing, for consensus of opinion suggests that you keep your textbooks for sentimental reasons. President John Grier Hibben, of Princeton University, suggests, "Every undergraduate leaving college should take his text books with him as a reminder and record of a past chapter in his life and as a nucleus of a library."

Make Bible Study Compulsory at Midd

Passing of an examination in Bible will be required of all candidates for graduation at Middlebury College beginning with the class of 1933, as announced by President Paul D. Moody in the daily chapel service last week.

In connection with this, a course in Bible, carrying no credit, will be given one semester of each year. Because of the varying degree of familiarity of the Bible with which students enter college, taking the course will not be compulsory. Students will be privileged to study the subject on their own, for which a syllabus of suggested readings will be provided. Details are not yet arranged, but examinations will be given at some time during the four years. A member of the trustees has offered a prize to be given for outstanding work in this examination.

Kaps and Non-Socs Debate Honors System

On Friday evening, February 21st, a debate was held in Kappa Gamma Chi Chapter House, between the Non-Society men and the "Kaps." The subject of debate was, "Resolved: that the system of reading for honors in college be abolished." The Kaps, by a previous toss of a coin, had the affirmative side and the Non-socs the negative side. Each team consisted of four men, three speakers and one alternate. The time allowed for each speech was five minutes and eight minutes for the rebuttal. Faculty members who acted as judges were Warden Bell, Mr. Mauzey and Dr. Phalen. Lemley was chairman and introduced the speakers. The men on the K. G. X. team, in the order in which the spoke, were Hatfield, Kingman and Paul, with Frazer as alternate. The Non-Society group was represented by Warner, Galaty and Wilcock, with Frazer as alternate. In both cases the rebuttal was given by the first speaker of each team.

At the conclusion of the debate an unofficial decision was rendered by the audience, resulting in the Kaps getting eleven votes and the Non-Socs ten. The official decision rendered by the judges was 52.1 points for the affirmative side and 58.2 for the negative.

Dr. Bell expressed his enthusiasm for this innovation by the "Kap" fraternity, to have occasional debates for those who are interested. The lively interest so evident in this initial attempt, indicates great possibilities for the future.

All those present were invited to stay for the refreshments which were served immediately after the debate ended. Many remained longer for bridge and billiards.

Saints Lose Last Three Games

The St. Stephen's five returned from their up-state trip on Feb. 14 and 15, with two defeats marked against them. The first game was played at Hamilton College, Clinton, New York on the evening of Feb. 14, 1930. The game was slow throughout and neither team showed anything worthwhile writing about. The home team did not get started until the second half, during which period they ran their score from 18 points to 30. But the opposition was strong enough to spurt at the end of the second half to 'cinch the game' and win by a 42-30 score. Lemley and Fusscas shared the honors in the scoring, with Glenn a close second.

The next evening, Saturday Feb. 15, 1930 the Red and White quintet met the Alfred aggregation on the opponents own court. The Saints never got started for the Alfred team fairly played with them. The opponents showed a wonderful passing attack and easily penetrated the zone defense of the home team. The game was slow and ragged throughout both halves, the Saints never threatening once with any kind of an attack. The score of the game at the end of the second half was 43-27 in favor of the Alfred quintet.

The last and final game of the season was played against R. P. I. at Troy, N. Y. on Feb. 22, 1930. And although the Saints lost by a good score, nevertheless they flashed some of their old time form by holding the R. P. I. quintet almost to a standstill in the second half. In the first half the Red and White team failed to function and the opposing quintet rolled up an imposing score, with Kennedy and Warren leading the attack. In the second half the Saints took on a spurt and in five minutes of play brought the score within two baskets of being tied. The teams then fought furiously for the remainder of the game, but baskets by Warren and Schiller put the game on "ice" for the R. P. I. team. The score ended at the final whistle 41-28 favor of R. P. I.

his audience. His playing has been steady and, on times, spectacular. Fusscas has held down the post of forward with great satisfaction and has been among the high point scorers of the East for the past two years.

The life of Dr. Charles R. MacInness, professor of mathematics at Princeton University, was saved recently when several of his students gave blood transfusions.

The book store of the University of Denver, Colorado, is this year furnishing the students with books at cost price. No profit is to be made on the students, according to the official announcement.

Although the summits of the mountains are far under water, they are said to rise 10,000 feet from the floor of the sea. Another ridge has been found by the scientists, which is 6,000 feet high.

The results of the hockey season are given in tabulated form below:

Unfortunately the record of goals scored was not kept for every game but the ten tallies made in intercollegiate contests were distributed as follows: K. Smith, 5; L. Smith, 2; White, 2; Pepper, 1.

The saves by the goalies are given below:

Connecticut	36	St. Stephen's	27
Hamilton	29	St. Stephen's	33
Colgate	28	St. Stephen's	35
Army	38	St. Stephen's	11
	131		106

At a recent meeting of the Trustees of Dartmouth College, it was decided to establish a department of journalism, with Professor Kelley at its head.

The origin of soccer has been traced to the time of King Alfred, when the game was given birth by the Saxon warriors kicking the heads of their Danish victims about.

The 106 stops credited to the St. Stephen's goalies were distributed as below:

	Saves	Goals Scored Gamble:
Conn.	2	3
Hamilton	31	2
Colgate	35	1
	68	6
Blomquist:
Conn.	25	2
Hamilton	2	6
Army	11	3
	38	11

Approximately 86,306 students out of 900,000 in the country attend Catholic colleges and universities.

Vassar students, in their publication, "The Miscellany," expressed the feeling that Harvard men do not bother to take them out because they are too active. The men from Cambridge are not interested in hiking or picnicking.

President Henry N. MacCracken of Vassar responds to President Angell's statement that week end trips are bad for students when he says that such trips are not only appreciated by college men and women, but are good for them.

...on the lot it's ACTION!

...in a cigarette it's TASTE!

"EASY TO SAY, hard to do." Easy to claim everything for a cigarette; not so easy to give the one thing that really counts: taste.

Hard to do—but Chesterfield does it. Sparkling flavor, richer fragrance, the satisfying character that makes a cigarette—because, in every step, we aim at taste...

"TASTE above everything"

year burdened by the irritating Freshman rules. If the bottle is not found by noon of the 28th February, when the Freshman Frolic takes place, the search will be abandoned and the class of '33 will be released from all Freshman rules, with the exception of wearing the little red caps and graciously doing Freshman work.

In April the annual Tug-of-War will be held at Saw Mill Creek, and if the Freshmen are able to immerse the Sophs in the cold stream, they can toss their little red caps away and live on undistinguished by any outward sign of honor or dishonor for the rest of their college career.

The following rules were in force at Mt. Holyoke College in 1734: "No young lady shall become a member of Mt. Holyoke Seminary who cannot kindle a fire, wash potatoes, repeat the multiplication table and at least two-thirds of the shorter catechism. Every member of the school shall walk a mile a day unless a freshet, earthquake or some other calamity prevent. No young lady shall devote more than an hour a day to miscellaneous reading. No young lady is expected to have gentlemen acquaintances unless they are returned missionaries or agents of benevolent societies." Says we—ah—ah—ah—women!
