Page 1
Infinite Riches In A Little Room
John Schroeder, Jr.
Production Group To Open Season With New Play
Dramatization of Bronte Novel Beginning of Extensive Program
Dr. Barnes Heads College Athletics For Coming Year
New Coach To Encourage Inter-Class Play
Musical College To Be Developed By Prof. Harmati
From the Dean
Donald G. Tewksbury
Support Pledged To Bard College At Opening Dinner
Community Begins Year With Gathering In Preston Hall
Thirteen New Men Appointed to Bard College Faculty
Number of Instructors Now Twenty-Seven; Sandor Harmati Joins Staff
New Organ To Be Installed In Chapel By All Saints Day
Educational Plan of Bard College Goes Into Effect
Students To Use Special Field As Gateway To Broad Knowledge
Large Registration Indicates Interest In Bard Program
Number of Students Shows Substantial Increase Over Last Year
Page 2
Bard College
To The Class of 1938
To The Alumni
Harry Translation Chosen For Short Story Anthology
Page 3
Continuation Of Previous Articles
Page 4
Alumni Column
Rifle Club Seeking N. R. A. Membership
Varsity and Tri-Sig Clubs Announce New Members
Dr. Barnes Heads Athletics For Coming Year

New Coach To Encourage Inter-Class Play

The fall sports season at Bard College had an auspicious beginning today when thirty athletes reported for soccer and cross-country. Coach Gerald Barnes, late of Clark University, was pleased with the reception, and expressed great hopes for both teams.

In his address to the candidates, Mr. Barnes stressed the new policy to be adopted for athletics. He seeks to encourage inter-class competition as well as intercollegiate activities. A new system of inter-class cooperation, among the teams being fostered in the future. Coach Barnes is also introducing into the training rules a system of individual responsibility. The regulations of smoking, keeping regular hours, etc. are to be surveyed by the athlete himself—with public opinion to play the role of a judge a player's condition.

With Mr. McClelland and Capt. Edderly, to act as assistants to Coach Barnes, the soccer team will be divided into two classes, regular practice games. The team, consisting of Dennis O'Connor, Economics; Horace Leister, Brewer, Laird, Monks, and Clinton as veterans, looks forward to a successful season. Such newcomers as Scott, Hope, Pues, Stearns, Burton, and Simms are expected to furnish additional material for the varsity.

The cross-country team under the direction of Mr. Fites and Capt. Dills, the large and experienced veteran, Dills, the large, fresh men's preparation at the first practice.

Musical College To Be Developed By Prof. Harmati

Under the direction of Mr. Sandor Harmati, the first steps have already been taken to create a musical college at Bard. A side club is being organized by the head of the music department, John Tewksbury, to act as assistant to Coach Barnes is somewhat handicapped by the absence of such veterans as Mitchell, Rudder and Blanche. However, it is a fact that it is but one remaining veteran, Dills, the large, fresh man's preparation at the first practice.

To Be Installed In Chapel By All Saints Day

Installation of the new organ, a gift of the Rev. George Dudley Bard '13, in memory of his parents and his brother, in the chapel at Bard College, is expected to be completed in time for the service to be held on All Saints Day, November 1. The following information was received from the September 1934 issue of "The Depanier."

"The instrument to be built by Messrs. Mann and Lothrop of Bard College, until recently St. Stephen's College, Annandale-on-Hudson, N. Y., as announced last month, is to be a large and imposing work of tonal and mechanical features which will be one of the most interesting works of recent years. It is believed that the installation presents problems of design and layout of which the outcome may be exceptionally beautiful and his achievement. This work has been drawn up by Professor Carl S. Snyder of the Department of Music at Bard College; Professor E. Harold Greer of Vassar College.

Students To Use Special Field As Gateway To Broad Knowledge

The new program of Bard College, which was drawn up by Dean Tewksbury and approved by the Trustees last spring, went into effect with the official opening of the fall semester.

The program follows the Bard College "divided pyramids" philo­sophy of education wherein the student chooses a special field of study and uses that as a gateway to the attainment of a broad, cultural education. The courses have been divided into the general physical and social sciences and mathematics; 24 philosophy and religious; 14 fine arts, music, and drama; 12 social studies and history. In each year a student is asked to do at least ten hours of work in four fields. A faculty advisor is chosen by him in the first year in most cases the head of the department in which he is specializing. This advisor is not to give him more than one course, but as a whole, as a whole, as a whole, as a whole.

Fundamentally, the object of this step in education is similar to the objectives long associated with St. Stephen's College. There have also been introduced into the college curriculum "Votelz" courses which are open to any undergraduate who is interested in any course in any course in any course.

Large Registration Indicates Increase In Bard Program

Number of Students Shows Substantial Increase Over Last Year

Wide-spread interest in the new educational program now going into effect at Bard College has resulted in a capacity enrollment of 120 students, with more expected, it was learned Saturday when un­descriptive registration ended at noon. This was a substantial in­crease over the registration for the previous year.

The broadcast of the new ideas in education which is being featured is evidenced by courses on all the subjects from every sector of the curriculum. Students have arrived and settle down for the year as it was. The fall enrollment registration began Wednesday and continued throughout the week. Uppers came down to enroll in the courses.

The process of registering was changed from that of previous years. Other than for a course, each student consulted with his instructor fully and completely to the course the student wished to undertake and the application of the course. A student could not sign up for a course until he had met with his instructor and had a complete record of his attendance in that course. This change was made in order to be sure that each student was taking the courses that were best suited to his individual needs and abilities.
The LYRE TREE

Infinite Riches In A Little Room

(Continued from Page One)

Surely there is worth, as well as pleasure, in the aesthetic and emotional forms of literature. The poet's flight and the novelist's lover's tenderness, his thrilling adventure, her heart-pounding hour pass by swiftly and pleasantly for all of us, scholar or layman as well.

Most of us find pleasure in the almanacs, yearbooks, and reading which the modern libraries offer us. True, the almanacs and the novelistic souls may even find romance in automobile accidents and scientific work, to scientific writers, from history, tales that we should commence with the choreography of the library's own books.
In order to handle the more ambitious be read in the threshold fields.

There are, of course, some books which we must read, learn, and and in the hands of stories to be published soon by the the book that is being written by least capable authors.

The laboratory students will also be able to do work in the will be free to do so at the time of and with the help of us, and of all those registered for it.

The work in The Laboratory Theatre this year will be divided open to shop work, the more important it be-

When the idea of the "new college" came to fruition, it was the most exciting in its long and honored history. Those of us who chairmen of the committee. If, for example, a well-

To the Class of 1938

The Lyre Tree wishes at this time to extend a welcome to the new students. You are entering this college at a time which is probably the most exciting in its long and honored history. Those of us who have been here before you are thrilled by what is taking place about us. We trust that you are also duly impressed. We see things becoming realities which a short time ago we never considered as pos-

In the library today, the new program and immediately seized the advent of a new era of distinctive progress in this college's contribution to higher education. The enthusiasm with which the new policy has been greeted by all those connected with Bard is indeed rewarding and has, no doubt, given great encouragement to those who are working so hard to make this "new college" a reality in the educational field.

We are confident that all those at the college this year are financed by the new faculty we extend our authors. They are a splendid lot and this is certain the well to read everything of some-

It is a new college in many ways and we are highly pleased with the progress that has been made. The courses, which the new policy graduated in the seventy-five years this college has existed. It will be your duty, during the years at hand, to preserve and to advance the treasures we have before you have so long done, as well as to share with us all the work of carrying on the further development of Bard College.

The LYRE TREE

wonder, and within the quiet of the library walls, he may find rest from the trials and tribulations of life.

We may make a library, if we but right use of it, a paradise come true, a Garden of Eden and a new dawn; for here everything is open to us, including the fruits of the Tree of Knowledge of Good and Evil. The knowledge which the Scriptures tell us our first mother sacrificed all the forbidden fruit.

The registration in the arts course is still going on. The arts and the drama, which are now included in the college's program, has been divided into two parts. The first part, which is known as the arts and literature, has been devoted for the development of those courses for the college. Approximately twenty-five students are expected to be enrolled in these courses at the end of the year. These courses have been planned by the faculty and are designed to give students a broad knowledge of the arts and literature.

Large Registration

Indicates Interest

(Continued from Page One)

This work to the particular field in which they are interested.

The card of each undergraduate student is held by the several advisors, before filling with the
the academic year.

The registration in the arts course is still going on. The arts, and the drama, which are now included in the college's program, have been divided into two parts. Approximately twenty-five students are expected to be enrolled in these courses at the end of the year. These courses have been planned by the faculty and are designed to give students a broad knowledge of the arts and literature.

Large Registration

Indicates Interest

(Continued from Page One)

this work to the particular field in which they are interested.

The card of each undergraduate student is held by the several advisors, before filling with the
the academic year.

The registration in the arts course is still going on. The arts, and the drama, which are now included in the college's program,
have been divided into two parts. Approximately twenty-five students are expected to be enrolled in these courses at the end of the year. These courses have been planned by the faculty and are designed to give students a broad knowledge of the arts and literature.

Large Registration

Indicates Interest

(Continued from Page One)

this work to the particular field in which they are interested.

The card of each undergraduate student is held by the several advisors, before filling with the
the academic year.

The registration in the arts course is still going on. The arts, and the drama, which are now included in the college's program,
have been divided into two parts. Approximately twenty-five students are expected to be enrolled in these courses at the end of the year. These courses have been planned by the faculty and are designed to give students a broad knowledge of the arts and literature.
New Organ To Be Installed In Chapel
(Continued from Page One) and J. B. Jamison of the Austin staff, and the scaling will be done by Mr. Jamison.

"The problem confronting the designer of the organ lies in the difficulty of obtaining the "grand effect" on an intimate scale, without overdoing it. As one faces the altar the old organ chamber is on the left of the chamber, with openings toward chancel and aisle; this will enclose the new great and choir. The swell will be installed in the tower, across the chancel, with tone opening through the arched ceiling of the chancel. The pedal organ will be directly under the chancel and will be assisted by the console position. This will be one of those fortunate instances where the organist will be able to hear his organ and choir in perfect balance and really enjoy playing."

Professor Geer, organist at Vassar College, will be present at Bard College, will be the librarian of the college, Dr. Carl A. Garrieldan, the Rev. George Dudley Barr, donor of the organ and a Harvard Fellow, will be lecturer in philosophy at Clark University, will be secretary of athletics and lecturer in sociology. Dr. Barnes is in favor of athletics on a voluntary basis, being anxious to learn how such cooperation he will receive from students and what caliber of teams can be developed under such a system.

Mr. Glenn McClelland, B.A. (Illinois), candidate Ph.D., in Public Law, Columbia; formerly instructor at Birch Wathen School, New York City, will be secretary of admissions and associate in education.

Strollers of Broadway, Amman-}

dale, should not neglect to visit this city's newest spot of gayety, the "Club Smith." Purveyors of the academic will find Kevin's new cafe, located next door to the town's largest department store, a pleasant place to gather. Harvey Fite, dramatics persona, while continuing art at Maverick, this past summer, held the position of dramatic critic on the "Catskill Mountain Star." His crowning piece of the season, volume 3, page 11 carried the distinguishing by line, "Harvey Fite."

How Refreshing!

Luckies are round, Luckies are firm, Luckies are fully packed with only the clean center leaves—and the clean center leaves are the mildest leaves—they cost more—they taste better.
Alumni Column

1909
The Rev. George Harvey Trick- ett, of 1881 Madison Avenue, Lan- caster, Ohio, is in the pulpit of St. Andrew's Church, Cleveland.

Edward Arthur Sitman may be addressed at 908 Montague Street, Brooklyn, New York.

The Rev. Collisetta Fowler is in charge of St. Andrew's Church, Cleveland, Ohio, which tend to be conservative or willing and prompt to inaugurate physical improvements. In conclusion he assured the gathering that "it is going to be a grand year!"

1912
Andrew's Church, Cleveland, Ohio, is in charge of St. John's Church, Cleveland, Ohio. The former organization is composed of upper classmen, who have earnestly sought and obtained permission to experiment with the regulations of the club. It is going to be a grand year!

1913
Donald Hanson Crain is living in Catkill, New York. As for himself, he sees in Bard an opportunity for constructive activities of the club.

Rifle Club Seeking N.R.A. Membership

A Rifle Club has been formed at Bard College by students willing to take the necessary precautions and to engage in athletic competition. The members of this club are Edward Arthur Sidman, Russell Scott, Alfred Brewer, Theodore Smythe, Charles Leone, Harry Mason, and LeFever, who was also elected to membership in the Tri-Club, honorary athletic society.

1910
The Rev. Peter L. Lamb Jr., of Independence, Ohio, is living at 16 Virginia Avenue. They are seeking, he believes, to experiment with the regulations concerning the club.

First National Bank

Phone 127

Good Beer Served Here

Miller's Grill

Wines and Liquors

George A. Miller, Prop.

Phone 1107-PN

E. Market St.

Red Hook, N. Y.

RedHookLunch

Ask the boys who've been here

Greeting Cards for All

THEATION SHOP

atars and all the thieves.

Beer on Tap

RedHookLunch

The Handy Gift Shop

First National Bank

BEER ON TAP

RedHookLunch

Ask the boys who've been here

Greeting Cards for All

The Handy Gift Shop

Red Hook, N. Y.

United Candies and Tobacco Stores

MAGAZINES AND NEWSPAPERS

ICE CREAM AND SODA

KODAKS AND FILM SUPPLIES - Developing Service

Laundry Service - Stamps - Radio Tubes

Stationery - Sports Goods - Gifts - Novelties - Sweets

THEATRE SHOP

Red Hook, New York

Warren W. Rockefeller

TEL. 45-F

“GREETINGS”

Beekman Arms welcomes the return of Bard College faculty and students and extends a most cordial invitation to all to visit THE OLDEST HOTEL IN AMERICA

Rheineck, N. Y.

BARD COLLEGE

Columbia University

Annandale-on-Hudson, New York

A Residential College for Men

A College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, associated with the Episcopal Church, and incorporated with the educational system of Columbia University.

It combines the advantages of college and university education. Its location at Annandale-on-Hudson, 95 miles north of New York City gives it the advantages of both city and country life.

The College, founded in 1860, is equipped to teach men who, after graduation, are intending to enter post-graduate schools of medicine, law, journalism, or theology; or into classical, scientific, social, or literary research.

The annual charge to full-time students includes tuition, room and board. Scholarships and part-time employment are available for qualified students.

Address: DONALD G. TEWSKURY, Ph.D., Acting Dean Annandale-on-Hudson, N. Y. (New York Central Railway Station, Barrytown)