Travel Directions

The Jerome Levy Economics Institute is located on the Bard College campus, on the east bank of the Hudson River, about 90 miles north of New York City and 220 miles southwest of Boston. By rail: Amtrak provides service from Penn Station, New York City, and from Albany to Rhinecliff, about 9 miles south of Annandale. Taxi service is available at the station. By automobile: From southern Connecticut, follow I-84 to the Taconic State Parkway, take the Taconic north to the Red Hook/Route 199 exit, drive west on Route 199 through the village of Red Hook to Route 9G, turn right onto Route 9G, and drive north 1.6 miles. From northern Connecticut, take Route 44 to Route 199 at Millerton, drive west on Route 199, and proceed as from southern Connecticut. From Massachusetts and northern New England, take the Massachusetts Turnpike to Exit B-2 (Taconic Parkway), take the Taconic south to the Red Hook/Route 199 exit, and proceed as from southern Connecticut. From New York City, New Jersey, and points south, take the New York State Thruway to Exit 19 (Kingston), take Route 209 (changes to Route 199 at the Hudson River) over the Rhinecliff Bridge to Route 9G at the second light, turn left onto Route 9G, and drive north 3.5 miles. From Albany, take the New York State Thruway to Exit 19 and proceed as from New York City.

Land, Wealth, and Poverty

The conference will address the role of land in public finance and explore the unique effects—such as wealth distribution, housing stock, and public revenue—of alternative land value taxation schemes. While a wide range of tax proposals (e.g., consumption tax, flat tax, and the Nunn-Domenici savings proposal) is being considered at the federal level, the conference will be dedicated to increasing public awareness of issues related to property tax reform.

Founded in 1986, The Jerome Levy Economics Institute of Bard College is an autonomous, independently endowed research organization. It is nonpartisan, open to the examination of diverse points of view, and dedicated to public service. Its purpose is to generate viable, effective public policy responses to important economic problems, and it is concerned with issues that profoundly affect the quality of life in the United States and abroad.
