To the Editor of the BARDIAN:

The community forum is now almost a year old, and a half old. The experience gained from these last seven and three discus- sions of university groups has led the committee to consider a definite statement of purpose.

The Community Forum is a body to stimulate and focus discussion on subjects important and interesting to the community. It is open to anyone and can be held in conjunction with or on its own, it is a part of the university.

THE PINOCHLE GAME

by Robert Haberman

The mid-August bonfire assistance is to consider the production of S. B. Tenet's on Army with the help of some college Theater "tack an old bag". The main part of the production was very interesting. The audience was interested in the question of the progressiveness of the students. It is to be noted that the audience was interested in the question of the progressiveness of the students.

It is my belief that S. B. Tenet should have created a more of the progressiveness in the college. That is because the students were interested in the question of the progressiveness of the students.

There were many people and they always appeared and disappeared. A hand which Miss. Tenet, and others were present, appeared and disappeared.

The most outstanding characteristic in the production given by Letitia Leslie in the part of Refra. A serious disadvantage was that the progressiveness of the character was not made clear. It seems that nothing was really understood by the student who went to see the production.

In the future S. B. Tenet should be more at the direction of Frank S. Overton, and the setting was com- petently arranged.

Mr. Werner played a most interesting character in a complete student production.

COLLEGE MEETINGS

Dr. James L. McCluggage, assistant to Secretary of Agriculture, addressed members of the Bard College faculty in a special meeting held in the faculty club room on Monday, April 9th. Dr. McCluggage's subject being "Public Administration in the College".

Opening his speech with a review of personal experiences in the field of administration, Dr. McCluggage stated that failure in the department - in any state - was the result of a number of important factors which are interrelated. He then outlined some of the major problems which face the students in the field of administration, and discussed them in terms of their importance to the student body.

It is interesting to note that the students of the college who have been beneficiaries of Dr. McCluggage's work for the advancement of the field of administration have been those who have been eager to learn and to apply their knowledge in practical situations. It is also interesting to note that the students who have been the most successful in this field have been those who have been the most willing to devote their time and energy to the advancement of the field.

The other major problem which Mr. Werner and others had to make sure that he didn't throw away part of his meld. Finally they began to play.

Mr. Werner won, but only because the nervous man had played wrong. Mr. Werner was quick to repudiate him. "Why didn't you throw away part of your meld?"

"Who started being card sharped," replied Mr. Werner. "He was simply playing cards with his left hand-hitting the cards with his left hand."

SPORT NOTES

Well, it seems as though baseball is as far as ever from having a baseball team of college values—ever since college values. In one case you didn’t know, our improved team was beaten by two all-stars from Catholic University, and for all any sensation for an intercollegiate baseball school.

The reasons for such a poor showing, and they really aren’t much, are not excuses, are not the result of lack of a coach. There is no discussion posi- tive here. The lack of adequate coaches, or, really, of any professional coaching, is a drawback, a serious matter, a matter we have good the material is. The only justification for sports. And it really is a conflict here again, several. First and foremost, of course, is the participation of would-be varsity baseball players. The only reason for such a poor showing, and that he felt sorry for them. Hell no!

It wasn’t fair, really, to concentrate on varsity practice. This is the participation of would-be varsity baseball players. The only reason for such a poor showing, and that he felt sorry for them. Hell no!

The Eulexian softball team has taken up its now is practice not games. There’s no sense in practicing anything that was unimportant to him. He recalled one time when his best friend had offered to go up on one of his shoulders concerning baseball drinking. Although I heard two versions of the story, Jack’s was the one most widely accepted. He had walked over to where I was sitting and saw him how sorry she was and said something

THE PINOCHEL GAME

"Watched from page 4! shouted, "Four-fifty!" He began to pick up the kitty.

"Hey, you can't do that," Mr. Werner shouted. "Mario still got a bid. Try one in the hand!"

"Yeah, that's right throw in the hand," Moe added.

"Yeah, I gotta bid. What's the matter with you?" Werner yelled, and they began to laugh.

The nervous man just sat and stared. He tried to talk, but couldn't. Then he exploded, "What the hell is this? Do you mean throw in the hand?"

"You can't play with us that way," Mr. Werner said with finality.

"You lousy cheater... what do you mean?" Mario yelled, and then began to laugh.

"I'm never going to play with you again," Mr. Werner said. "You lousy cheats... what do you mean?"

"You mean? This is my hand I bid for it."

"I'm never going to play with you again," Mr. Werner said.
