College Council to Advise Dean on Bard Affairs

Chairmen of Committees Sit With Student Council

To Meet Once a Month

A Council of Bard College, composed of five faculty members and eight students, will meet once a month with the dean, will take the place of the old Student Council of that body.

The Faculty members of the Council are: the president of the college, a relative of the student body on the Council are the student council chairman of the student body on the Council and the chairman of the student body on the Council. Since there is a member of the Council from each of the departments of the school, it is expected that the student council chairman will be selected from that department.

It is expected that the student council chairman will be selected from that department. The Council will have no authority to make any changes in the student council, but the chairman will be selected from that department.

The first meeting of the Academic Council will be held on May 21st, at the conclusion of the academic year.

Mr. Hitler Sees It Through...

EVEN THE German people might have a sen-tional trial in New York must yield the first column space to the news from Prague these days. And as each day passes the world sits nervously on edge awaiting the words of Hitler — words which never seem to come.

But when and if they do come, they will mean disaster. They will mean disaster to their author because either of his alternatives is a lead pipe. Hitler. Hitler has worked himself into a position whence to take Czechoslovakia will result in a long war with France and probably Great Britain, from which we have not emerged victorious; a position whence to ignore the Sudeten’s plea for recognition is as bad as the alternative. Well it will be a slow road to disaster. In the event of the latter, the German leader would meet a great deal of resistance that his own people would discard him.

And so, as we put the Freshmen on the back in welcome, we ought to tell them that the upperclassmen in setting into motions of last year may, in all probability, possibilities of a progressive school, they’ll mean disaster. They will mean disaster to the college along the roads planned by Tommy and Jimmy with their sen-alternative to...
Parsons Named New Sports Director

Suggest Cutting Intercollegiate Games This Year

The committee on sports which surveyed the athletic activities of last year, proposed in its report the curtailment of competitive sports during the present program. One of the first recommendations-made as an enlarged project of intramural games was received. The committee suggested that those intramural activities that were not competitive should be retained in order to encourage the intramural spirit.

The development of an outdoor club will be continued, as Mr. Parsons, who was responsible for the outdoor program last year, indicated. The committee also approved the outdoor program for intramural and athletic activities, as another of Mr. Parsons’ recommendations. Existing activities were to be continued under the leadership of some other faculty member.

The renewed student-faculty committee on sports was established to receive the recommendations which will follow in their report. The committee will be interested in likely that some steps will be taken in the direction of developing a strong club system in place of the intramural and athletic programs, which have heretofore been the practice.

Nineteen New Students Register For 1938-1939

Place of the present type of athletics at Bard. After Mr. Parsons spoke as representative of the Student Council: "These changes are necessary for the development of the school." The committee also approved the opening of the Student Council for intramural sports and the creation of an intramural committee to handle those activities.

John McMillan was appointed intramural director, and was another of Mr. Parsons’ recommendations. Existing activities were to be continued under the leadership of some other faculty member.

Five of the recommendations which will follow in their report. The committee will be interested in

The opening convocation of the fall for the 1938-39 academic year will be held at the Sunday service in the College Chapel at 3:30, September 11. The Reverend Miles Lowell, Chaplain of the College, will officiate and preach the initial service of the year.

Bard College

The Library is now closed, and will remain closed until October 1.

Phelan has announced that the regular Chapel program of last year will be maintained throughout this coming academic year. It is expected that this program will be augmented by services of special character in which guest readers and specially arranged musical programs will be heard by the college community.
