UNFAIR TO SCIENCE STUDENTS

When the psychologists who were responsible for Monday morning's three hour ordeal, dissected culture and social life in any way, it was evident from what we learned that the field chambers of the hot house intellects an irresponsible group thronging upon Dr. Sloan's five foot high fence was a good deal far from their students. Even after the final results are posted we will have a fairly accurate hierarchy of students who could find that there was a definite correlation of the three classifications mentioned above.

To anyone not familiar with the status of civil liberties in this country and particularly in educational circles, it must be a surprising and nauseating experience to take a college paper to thank the administration for the freedom it has enjoyed. However, the Badian wishes to express its appreciation to Dean Towkabury, the faculty and trustees for the confidence and good faith placed in us by those bodies. In communication with other journals we have found that the freedom of speech which prevails here as at no other institution in the country.

The text was fairly untrust to the students of pure science, and the tabulations will not be applicable to more than half of the student body. It would be unwise to attempt to support the psychology of the reasoning of their freedom of speech as a science would result from an examination of what knowledge of science as being at least on a par with the three classifications mentioned above.

NEWSTAFF MEMBERS

This month the Badian begins its second semester as a recognized college paper. Beginning with the spring, we are a nationalized daily, and will do our best to add another page to the paper. It is well as understood and a basis of proverbial greatness. Already, the new members of both business and educational staffs have brought in new work and the result is that the paper is still better than our nationalized daily, and will be forced to add another page. The paper as it stands is undeniably the best in the country. Now that we are a nationalized daily, we must and we will be forced to add another page.

JACOB CRESNER

It's well past the beginning of February first and we hear no more about the Olympic Games, except that another team has been sent abroad or that the Nazis have gotten up an eleventh hour ruse with which they tour Germany, efficiently propagandizing the bridge meeting at Berlin of the brotherhood of athletes. We dislike the idea of digging up old skeletons, even if they aren't particularly of our own family, but we should like to suggest that once upon a time people were very much wrapped up in what they considered a harmless Hitler and his gang of sports-directors. Perhaps they were prone to feel that the cause of their complaints should be immediately amended. The flunky dashed off but in a short time returned with the confusing information that the name given could not be found on the list. Yes, he looked carefully and checked the spelling. With noble annoyance, our friend drew himself up to his full six foot three and remarked that the registrant's name should be immediately amended. The flunky, suffering minor chagrin, obediently turned and wrote down the missing data. Our friend said to him, "I had a very pleasant evening."

BARDINETS

And the wind will blow and we shall have school just the same. Of course it is rather fun to see the silly faces of our playmates again in spite of the fact that after ten or fifteen minutes it is depressing. . . . And then there was the time when little Audrey merely laughed because she had formed the habit. . . . I suppose that Krutler will have to keep out of the monkey quarters now—don't you think his tan becomes him? . . . It would be dreadful if he were locked up with "Tucker" because of a case of mistaken identity . . . . I suppose we have worked off all our surplus energy and are ready for a stretch of hard, assiduous study. But then we might consider Vassar as a place of repose—perhaps it will become necessary to combine with them since we are short of rooms. How do you all think exchange scholarships would work—fifty of us go down there and fifty of them come up here. That certainly should provide some diversion for our more home-minded boys. . . . Well, now that we have either paid the tuition or made a down payment there is nothing more to worry about until May 30th. At which time it is necessary to consider what we are going to do during the summer. . . . Really, old man, or as some of the nearly initiated P المنials might have it—old frijolos from the account books have received from you and you and you. . . . The fact that all the old-timers are out of school or in college really is nothing more than a phase of our life. . . .

BARD COLLEGE

Residential Unit of Columbia University
EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

The new educational program of Bard College is designed for young men who are prepared to undertake the full course of studies required by the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Such students are prepared for a career of teaching. The college is devoted to the education of the liberal arts and sciences. Each student accepted by the college is given the opportunity of building under guidance his own curriculum beginning in the first year with a major course in his chosen field and progressively extending his interests into related fields. Individual tutorial conferences are held biweekly with the members of the faculty. There are a number of scholarship awards, and the Bachelor of Arts degree is conferred upon graduation.

complete consideration of the plan during the course of the debate. The debate with Albright at Reading, Pa., proved to be the most interesting of the tour. The contest was held in an auditorium before approximately a hundred people. The Oxford method was used somewhat the Town Hall of the Air. White Gablesing the Oregon method was employed. According to this plan each side has a fifteen minute presentation. These speeches are cross-examined for ten minutes, and then the debate is concluded with a five minute summary for each side. This type of debate is highly popular throughout Pennsylvania since the cross-examination furnishing excitement is interesting to the audience.

With Dickinson the Oxford plan was employed. Hard up the affirmative of resolving; that the power of the Supreme Court to declare acts of Congress unconstitutional be terminated.

Blame for increased drunkenness and rowdiness was laid squarely on the shoulders of the college themselves. For incidents such as Dartmouth's twelfth man against Princeton, and the tearing down of the goal posts before the completion of the Princeton-Vanderbilt game the schools have themselves to blame. Here's one cigarette that writes its own advertising

It's like this:

You see I'm reading a Chesterfield advertisement and I'm smoking a Chesterfield cigarette, and all of you are smoking Chesterfields.

Now listen—Chesterfields are mild (not strong, not harsh). That's true isn't it? Then you read "and yet they satisfy, please your taste, give you what you want in a cigarette." That says it, doesn't it?

Wait a minute—

It says now that Chesterfields have plenty of aroma and flavor. One of you go out of the room and come back. That will tell you how pleasing the aroma is.

Chesterfield writes its own advertising.
