Three Students Write After Opposition
Editorial Of Sept. 17

Editor's Note—The September 17 issue of the Benningtonian contained an editorial opposing a student strike and the closing of the co-operative store on the basis of the student's suggestions. We are strongly convinced of the impotence of the plan, and we believe that the majority of the student body agreed with the general criticism of that editorial. With the editorial was a letter submitted by the staff for a college store which lowered prices to create student employment. However, the students of Bennington College, as an institution very similar to Bard in the nature of its educational principles and the degree of experience in such a situation, could not be criticized. One of the writers of the following letter in a similar vein as to the Bennington opinion. Mr. Kent’s letter is the only exception to the Benningtonians without the letter, and hopes and results of an interchange of opinion will be published in a later issue of the Bardian. Several students expressed interest in future participation.

Mr. Richard Rovere,

Mr. Kent to the founding of a co-operative movement was carried on—resulting in a plan which went into effect in February of the same year. The cooperative organization has been primarily concerned with the highest, have been lowered in Dr. Beard in the American Historical Review of education in this year’s review of education. Scholastic records have resulted in a number of cases last year. Walgreen, the head of the company which was thought of in the Department of Admissions, will be with him. The interview will be held in the Department of Admissions in the morning classes under the instruction of Mr. Vassar. Galloway are an innovation this year.

The club has five horses all in good condition. Four of the horses are named to be led in the club by Mr. Ward Mevill, a trustee of the horse by Galloway. Gallowy and Mollie are the only two horses this year.

The work consists of the drawings, specifications, and patent rights of the "Crimson," the first practical steamboat to be launched in the United States. The illustrations in the manuscript are of special interest as they were done by a particularly skilled and capable drafter.

If you have any questions regarding the adoption of the "Crimson," please contact the staff.

Dr. George Counts

Dr. George Counts, Professor of Education at Teachers College, Columbia University, visited the college on Thursday and Friday. The completed boat was 133 feet long, 7 feet deep, and 18 feet wide. Looking Around

Jacob Cremer

Concerted action against the Italian invasion into Ethiopia seems to have made most of the members of the League of Nations. This announcement has invited a great deal of cynical and ironical comment from the press that has followed the breach. Much of this skepticism, it is true, seems justified and calmly: The Ethiopian government is in no position to withstand a prolonged war, and the Italian armies are far from being capable of taking their place. Certainly, the war is not without question, will prove the strongest to the Italian army, and the Ethiopian army, and will be decided by the strength of the Italian army.

In any country, whatever be the cause or occasion, there are a number of men who are not satisfied with the present state of affairs. They will continue to fight, and in the end, the powers that be will be forced to compromise. This is a fact, and it is one that we must accept.

A HOSPITAL WOULD SAVE HIS LIFE

... but he will have to die

To beid, little fellow, but you will have to die.

Some of the hospitals are full, others are running just time or not at all, because of the lack of money.

It takes a lot of money to run America's hospitals. Oh, yes, a lot of money, a billion dollars a year.

You see, we spent our money in the war. It was a very expensive war. It cost the nations of the world almost a billion dollars every four days.

The Annual Budget of All Our Hospitals

BLOWN UP, IN POWDER AND SHOT!

EVERY 96 HOURS!

WHAT TO DO ABOUT IT

Today with talk of another war heard everywhere, millions of Americans stand firm in their determination that the folly of 1914-1918 shall not occur again.

...but, after all is said and done, it's the cigarette itself that counts

...the question is, does it suit you?

Now, when it comes to a cigarette that will suit you...you want to think whether it's mild, you want to think about the taste

That Chesterfields are milder and taste better is no accident...

The farmer who grows the tobacco, the warehouseman who sells it at auction to the highest bidder, every man who knows about leaf tobacco will tell you that it takes mild, ripe tobaccos to make a good cigarette.

In making Chesterfields we use mild ripe home-grown and Turkish tobaccos.
